Thanksgiving Proclamation.

By the president of the United States. A proclamation. In the course of the nation's history, upon a day set apart for that purpose, in special festival of prayer to the Giver of all good, I, Chester A. Arthur, president of the United States, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as the day for national thanksgiving. The year which is drawing to an end has been replete with evidences of divine goodness, the prevalence of health, the fullness of harvest, the stability of peace and order, the growth of fraternal feelings, the spread of intelligence and learning, and continued enjoyment of civil and religious liberty. All these and countless other blessings are cause for reverent rejoicing, and I therefore recommend that on the day above appointed the people rest from their accustomed labors, and in their several places of worship express their devout gratitude to God that He has dealt so bountifully with this nation, and pray that His grace and favor may abide with it forever.

(Signed) CHESTER A. ARTHUR.
FREDERICK T. BELLINGHAM
Secretary of State.

The month of October carried away a little over ten millions of the national debt.

Gold is being shipped to this country from England in large amounts. The balance of trade is in favor of this country.

"Mysterious disappearances" are becoming quite frequent. Some people are willing to do anything for a little notoriety.

When it comes to meting out justice, New Jersey is no respecter of persons. A prominent young lawyer named Henry D. Garrett, committed forger at Jersey City, and he goes to state prison for three years.

It will not surprise the public to hear that the coroner's jury in the Burns murder case found that Zara Burns came to her death "by some person unknown." The chain of circumstances against Carpenter was too weak to fasten the crime upon him. But very likely he will be tried for murder and his explanations of certain points which now seem to be against him will be watched with deep interest.

It is very unsafe for the republican state committee of Massachusetts to fix Mr. Robinson's majority for governor; but it has done so, nevertheless, putting the figures at from 12,000 to 20,000. We all thought Judge Forsker would get from 15,000 to 20,000 in Ohio, but suddenly walked away with the plum. We hope this guessing will not be as bad as to Massachusetts as it was to Ohio. For honor's sake, Massachusetts should defeat Butler, and the prospects are that it will, but to give the figures is a wild piece of work.

The country never suspected how many accomplishments were latent in President Arthur. Everybody knows that he is a thorough gentleman and an excellent scholar, but Mr. Thomas Murphy, of New York, who was once collector of the port of New York, and an old chum of Mr. Arthur's, says in a newspaper interior, that Mr. Arthur, in his younger days, was one of the best banjo players he ever heard, and that he could excel many of the best end-men who travel with the minstrel troupes. Murphy also says that the other banjo-players "began to suspect that he was training to be a star in some big show, and they were outrageously jealous of him." Mr. Murphy goes on to say that the president "is a more expert jig-dancer than a banjoist." He took lessons twenty-five years ago as a jig-dancer, when he was a boy at Leonard's.

A DISPUTED QUESTION.

The Chicago Journal, a day or two ago, published an editorial note as follows: "The prohibitionists are finding out that a law which prohibits the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages can be passed and enforced by the legislature of almost any state without the trouble of amending the constitution. All that is needed is the passage of a law making such manufacture and sale unlawful, and punishing it by proper pains and penalties. It is this a correct view of the case, what the prohibitionists need in order to accomplish their object is to get control of the legislatures of the several states and pass the necessary laws. Indeed, if a constitutional amendment should be adopted in any state—in Iowa for example—and the governor and a majority in the legislature should be opposed to the scheme, it would be very difficult to have the object of the amendment realized."

The opinion of lawyers will probably be divided on this question. Some will maintain that such prohibition can not be made by merely the enactment of a law by a legislature and probably this is the correct view of the case. Others hold that a legislature can enact a law which will prevent the manufacture and sale of any article, but that its constitutionality would be tested in the courts is a matter of course. A court would decide such a law unconstitutional. The only way to secure prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, is to put it in the form of a constitutional enactment to be voted upon by the people. This is recognized as the only legal way to reach prohibition by the facts that states do not attempt to prohibit the manufacture of liquor by a mere legislative enactment.

Papillon Skin Cure, Papillon Catarrh Cure, Papillon Cough Cure, manufactured by the Papillon Manufacturing Co. of Chicago, Ill., and advertised in this paper is for sale by Palmer & Stevens and Proctor & Brannon.

STATE POLITICS.

In an editorial note, the Chicago Journal says:

The question that at present stirs republican circles in Wisconsin is whether Governor Rusk will be a candidate for re-election next year, or be an aspirant for the seat in the United States senate now held by Angus Cameron, whose term expires in 1885. His friends say they are "for him," whatever he may want to be. The republican circles in this state are not "stirred" up to any extent in regard to Governor Rusk's political ambition. Whatever may be published concerning his candidacy for re-election or for the United States senate, will be nothing but wild speculation. He has said nothing and has done nothing that would tend to "stir" up the political circles of the state. It may be safe to say, however, that should Governor Rusk be a candidate for renomination, he will be endorsed by the republican convention, and once nominated, there is no power in the democratic party which will defeat him.

Whether the governor will be a candidate for United States Senator in 1885, is not positively known. Senator Cameron's term will expire on the 3d of March, 1885, and the legislature elected next fall, when a governor will also be elected, will elect a senator to succeed Mr. Cameron. It is not known whether he will be a candidate for re-election and nothing from him has indicated what his purposes will be in 1885. There are speculations afloat as to what Governor Rusk will do next year, but they may come wide of the mark. That gentleman is not in the habit of giving himself away, and it will be perfectly fair to say that he has not said a word, either to a friend or an interviewer, that should create a ripple in the republican circles of Wisconsin. In the meantime the republicans of the state will go on in the event of their ways, elect a republican governor next fall, also a republican legislature, and will not become excited as to the senatorship until the time for an election arrives.

GENERAL W. T. SHERMAN.

General William T. Sherman relinquished command of the armies of the United States on the first of the month and will now retire to private life, but by a special act of congress will receive an annual salary of $17,500 as long as he lives. No newspaper gossip tells us that the brave old soldier who has seen so much of war and given his country so much service, leaves the army with a bitter regret. This may be true, but there are reasons for the belief that it is not true. But still, General Sherman is not different from the rest of mortals, and it may be that he gave up the generalship of the armies with a little sorrow. Men like to hold to fame, to position, to authority, and to power, even if they have attained the age of 61. The heaviest cross General Grant was ever called upon to bear was to quit the white house in 1877. He had a wonderfully strong affection for the old executive mansion, and for the glory and the honor that surrounded it. When one gets a taste of fame and popularity, accompanied by the blandishments of the public, it naturally brings regret to be compelled to lose a hold on them; and it may be, after all, that "Old Tecumseh" retires from the command of the armies with very much the feeling that General Grant gave up the presidency.

General Sherman has had a singularly marked career. He was born in 1820, and was graduated from West Point in 1840. He served in the Florida and Mexican wars; resigned his commission in 1853; was a banker in San Francisco, and afterwards practiced law at Leavenworth, Kansas. In 1859 he was appointed superintendent of the Louisiana military academy, but resigned in 1861, when that state seceded. He was commissioned as the colonel of a regiment of regular infantry; commanded a brigade at Bull Run, served with distinction in Kentucky, became a brigadier and major-general of volunteers, and a brigadier-general in the regular army. In 1863 he succeeded General Grant in command of the department of the Tennessee, and a few months later in that of the Mississippi. General Sherman then organized an army of 100,000 men, and, opposed by General J. E. Johnston, made his famous "march to the sea," during which he gained several victories over the confederate forces, capturing Atlanta September 2, 1864, Fort McAllister December 13, and Savannah December 21. Returning northward by another route, he swept through South Carolina, gained two victories in North Carolina March 1866, occupied Goldsborough, captured Raleigh, and negotiated with General J. E. Johnston terms of capitulation. He became a major-general in the regular army August 12, 1866, and general of the army in March, 1869, soon after General Grant became president.

He retires to his home at St. Louis with the kindest wishes of the nation. All classes profoundly respect him for his great leadership as a general, and his manly integrity. The title of general, which has been given only to Washington, Grant, and Sherman, will not be given to General Sheridan.

We All Believe

That it is a long lane that has no turning; that many a shaft of random sent, finds a mark the other little more; that no remedy sold will cure coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough and all throat and lung troubles so quickly nor permanently as Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure; that our druggists, Stearns & Baker are very generous to give trial bottles of the remedy free of charge.

Disease, Propensity and Passion, brings mankind numberless ailments, foremost among them are Nervousness, Nervous Debility, and unnatural weakness of Gen-

MRS. HUDSON'S FREAK.

She Tires of Her Husband and Leaves Him.

And Donning Male Attire Weds Another Woman, Who, Discovering Her Sex is Satisfied with Her Husband.

BRANDON, Wis., Nov. 2.—The mystery surrounding the case of Frank Dubois, the man or woman whose sex it has been the endeavor of the public generally to discover, has in part been cleared away by the confession of Dubois to a reporter in the presence of the woman whom he or she married a few months ago. It was very difficult to get the couple to tell their story, but they were finally induced to do so. Dubois was in his shirt sleeves, a slight but effeminate looking personage. He is 4 feet 11 inches tall, slight figure, weighing about 100 pounds; hips broad; chest full; arms short; and hands and feet very small and slender. He had every appearance of a woman. The woman known as his wife, Gertrude, is apparently about 17 years old, about Dubois' height, and is rather a pretty blonde with dark hair. She was in tears, and appeared greatly distressed when the question of her husband's sex was mentioned. Following is the interview:

"Mr. Dubois, you of course know the stories which have been circulated concerning you?"

"I do," hesitatingly, and in a voice which could not be mistaken for a man's.

"You are married to Gertrude Fuller, are you not?"

"I am; the ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Morrison in Wauwaton."

"You insist that you are a man?"

"I do; I am; as long as my wife is satisfied it's nobody's business."

"Mr. Dubois you look like a woman, act like a woman and are the donor of reason to the women who are not Frank Dubois, but Mrs. Hudson—a woman. You refuse to reveal yourself."

"There is nothing to reveal."

"If you are caught in this disguise you will be arrested. You should place yourself in your proper light at once and thus avoid punishment."

"Oh, Frank, for God's sake tell all and have it over at this moment," exclaimed the young and pretty wife, tears streaming down her face.

Dubois looked toward her, his lip trembling, and in a moment he burst into tears, sobbing chokingly for a time.

Finally he said: "It's true, and endeavoring to leave the room."

He was restrained and was induced to tell his story. He said he was really Mrs. Hudson, and had lived of her husband and family, and determined to lose a identity as the wife and mother by assuming the guise of a man. "My husband," she said, "went to Illinois last spring; I immediately assumed male attire and went to Wauwaton, where I had previously met and admired Gertrude Fuller. I courted her, and we were married, she not knowing me to be a woman until the night after the marriage ceremony was performed. I then induced her to keep silent, which she has since done. While living with my husband, I helped him support the family, peddling soap, and compounding extracts, which I disposed of. I was thus led to depend upon myself, and when I took upon my shoulders the support of Gertrude, I felt fully able to carry the burden. I papered, painted, made and sold extracts, and we were happy. We were preparing to move to Elgin, Ill., when my husband came upon the scene. After he came to the house, I concealed myself for a time, and then took the train for Brandon, Gertrude remaining at the house of a friend, following on Tuesday to Brandon, where we stopped at the house of an acquaintance, coming here Tuesday evening. I will not return to live with Hudson. I propose to wear pants, smoke, and earn my living as a man."

Mrs. Dubois, or more properly Gertrude Fuller, appeared heart-broken, sobbing continuously during the recital of the story. She, however, confirmed the general statement when questioned that her parents resided in Wauwaton, where her father and a brother were engaged in the nursery business. She had married Frank Dubois (or Mrs. Hudson), and had, on the night of their marriage, discovered that her husband was of her own sex. They had agreed to live together, and had done so. It was an affair of their own, and nobody was concerned but herself.

CHARGED WITH FALSEHOOD.

Marquis Tseng Declares Recent French Statements Prevarications.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The correspondent of The Central News had an extended interview with Marquis Tseng, the Chinese ambassador, and the Chinese ambassador emphatically declared that the statements made by Premier Ferry before the chamber of deputies on the alleged authority of M. Tsien were mischievous misstatements concocted in Paris for political effect. The use of the name of Li Hung Chang was unauthorized and ill-advised, inasmuch as Li Hung Chang, being his personal friend and relative, would never have given utterance to such expressions as were credited to him. It was moreover an absurdity to suppose that the Chinese government would give contradictory instructions to Li Hung Chang and to its representative at Paris.

Beating the Record Again.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 2.—At Narragansett park, Cranston, the black gelding E. B. Wanship, owned by J. B. Barnaby, of this city, with a running mate, defeated the bay gelding Frank and mare, owned by James Keenan, of Boston, in three straight heats for $5,000. The three heats were the fastest ever trotted in a contest of this kind, and the second, which was made in 2:10½, beats the best record, 2:11 made by Yellowdock and mare in 1882. One thousand people witnessed the race. The judges were John Shephard and Ira H. Bickford, of Boston, and Col. S. S. Atwell, of Providence.

Locked the Children In.

EDGEFIELD, S. C., Nov. 2.—On Sunday night Moses Johnson and his wife, negroes, put their three children to bed, locked up the cabin, and went off to a revival meeting. When they returned they found their house completely enveloped in flames. Two of their children were burned to death, and the third child was so badly injured that it is not expected to live.

Clubbied Him to Death.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 2.—At West Liberty, Ky., Oscar McKenna, formerly sheriff of Morgan county, was called out by two brothers named Reischer, professing to make friends over an old quarrel. Reischer clubbed McKenna to death, and fled to the mountains.

A Minnesota Embarrassment.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—The Knite Falls Lumber company, of St. Paul, Minn., has become temporarily embarrassed. A committee of creditors has investigated the affairs and report assets, $451,000; liabilities, $204,440.

THE HENNEPIN CANAL.

Meeting of Advocates for Its Construction—Resolutions Adopted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The Illinois and Mississippi River commission met in the Grand Pacific hotel in executive session. A large representation was present. President Allen was in the chair. Among those present were the following: J. M. Allen, Genesee; James L. Camp, Dixon; C. H. Deere, Moline; T. J. Robinson, Rock Island; L. D. Whiting, Tiskilwa; John L. Hibbs, Schenectady; Senator Cullom, Congressional Collier, Henderson, Nece, and Springer, of Illinois; Senator Wilson and Congressman Hayden of Iowa; J. C. Dore, Chicago; Congressman Murphy, of Iowa; Judge W. C. James, Council Bluffs; L. E. Parker, Davenport; M. Townsend, Moline; John L. Swift, Schenectady, and many others.

The meeting mapped out the matters to be discussed at the afternoon meeting and elected the following officers:

President, J. C. Dore, Chicago; first vice president, C. H. Deere, Moline; second vice president, L. B. Holman, New York; secretary, Edward Russell, Davenport; treasurer, T. J. Robinson, Rock Island.

The title of the association was changed from the Mississippi and Illinois River and Canal Improvement commission to the Michigan and Mississippi Canal commission. The membership was increased from seven to twenty-five, including ex-officio.

A general meeting was held in the Appellate court-room, at which were present a large number of interested people.

Mr. J. C. Dore, as president, called the meeting to order, and Sam Clark, of Kankakee, was selected for secretary.

Mr. Dore returned thanks for the honor, and stated the object to be to consider and determine the most judicious course to pursue to induce the national government to adopt means to construct a free waterway from the great lakes to the Mississippi river.

Speeches were then made by Edward Russell, of Davenport, Ia.; Gov. Bross, Maj. Boyard, U. S. A.; Mayor Harrison, Senator Cullom and Congressman Springer and Henderson, after which the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Agriculture is the greatest industry of these United States, and cheap transportation alone enables its products to command the markets of the world; and whereas, said products constitute four-fifths of the entire exports of this country, therefore, be it

Resolved, That no other industry has equal claims upon this government, and no expense necessary to sustain its foreign trade should be withheld.

Resolved, That the construction of the Mississippi and Illinois canal and the enlargement of the Illinois and Michigan canal are necessary to cheap transport and the securing of a foreign market for the surplus products of the northwest, and that these improvements should be made by the national government with the least possible delay.

After several more speeches by congressmen, the meeting adjourned until evening, when a meeting of the commission was held to appoint a committee to raise funds, which matter was entrusted to the executive committee, which will meet immediately for this purpose.

EFFECT OF A SERMON.

It Ruins a Man's Business and Retains a Man's Preacher.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 2.—The trial of the suit of Frank Brown against Rev. James Brent for $50,000 damages was commenced in the court of common pleas. Mr. Brown, who was some time ago the proprietor of a drug store in the village of Oberlin, where on account of the numerous colleges located in the place the sale of intoxicating liquors was strictly forbidden, was several times accused of selling whisky contrary to the wishes of the community, thereby incurring their ill will, which finally culminated in the firing and destruction of his store. The present suit grows out of a sermon preached by the reverend defendant Feb. 24, 1882, and which was afterwards published in The Oberlin News, of which the following is a brief extract: "Ghastly deeds of the past still stretch out their bloody hands and clutch at thee. Good men shall break their hearts at thy death. Thy monument shall be a testimony that a plague is stayed, and as thy guilty spirit is borne on the blast towards the gates of hell the hideous shrieks of those whom thou hast ruined shall pierce thee."

Brown claims he only sold liquors as medicine, and that on account of the sermon his character and business have been irretrievably ruined. Therefore he prays for damages.

A Fine Herd of Cattle.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2.—The display of live stock at Finkbeiner's, the display of the Maryland agricultural and mechanical association, is attracting a great deal of attention. Prominent among the exhibits is a herd of Drovers, thirty-five in number, belonging to Mr. Frank Brown. They have a national reputation, and are known as the progeny of the Patterson herd, purchased from the earl of Leicester in 1817. Prince Leopold II. of Belgium, the Queen of England and Emperor of Austria, a few years ago, is now the head of the herd. S. M. Shook, a maker has a magnificent herd of thirty Jerseys, at the head of which is the celebrated bull "Forget Me Not." Mr. John W. Garrett exhibits a fine flock of Southdowns, and forty thoroughbred trotting horses and colts.

A Child's Desperate Act.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2.—Mary Krager, aged 14 years, an inmate of the St. Joseph's orphan asylum, attempted suicide by jumping from a second story window of that institution and sustained serious injuries. She says that her life has of late become unbearable and that she wants to die. The officials of the institution declare that she was well treated and there was no other reason for her act than a dislike for the discipline. The story that she tells will be officially investigated.

Looking for a Market.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—The Austria government has, at the urgent request of trade organizations, determined to follow the example of France and Germany in their efforts to open up a market for manufactures in Africa. The work of organization has been entrusted to Dr. Huber, an experienced African traveler, who will begin his work on the south coast.

Exceptions Sustained.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 2.—In the case of Dinsmore vs. The Reading Railroad company in which the exceptions to the answers for scandalous and impertinent allegations were argued last week, Judge Nixon filed an opinion sustaining the exceptions taken by Mr. Dinsmore's counsel.

Why Did They Let Him Go?

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Nov. 2.—William A. Stevens, colored, who killed his father-in-law, Aaron Nichols, last spring, by cutting his throat with a razor, pleaded guilty to manslaughter, and was sentenced to eight years imprisonment.

Decided for the Defendant.

MONTREAL, Nov. 2.—The trial suit of the Allan Steamship company for $50,000 damages against The Montreal Witness was decided in favor of the newspaper.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 5.

WHO KILLED HER?

The Question Unsettled as to Who Killed Zura Burns.

Verdict of the Coroner's Jury—Carpen-ter to be Examined Before a Justice on Saturday—Talk on the Street.

LINCOLN, Ill., Nov. 5.—The coroner's jury did their first work since last Friday. There was no new evidence submitted, but the case was prolonged till nearly 2 o'clock without stopping for dinner, and finally they reached a verdict, which as far as their work was concerned, regarding Carpenter virtually says, "not guilty." The following is the language of their report:

"In the matter of the inquisition on the body of Miss Zura Burns, deceased, held at Lincoln, Ill., from October 17 to November 1, 1888, we, the undersigned jury, sworn to inquire of the cause of her death, and on the 1st of November, 1888, we found that she died of a wound in the throat, produced by some sharp instrument in the hands of some person or persons to the jury unknown."

THOMAS W. KENYON, Foreman.

DAVID GILLESPIE, GEORGE I. HARRY, SAMUEL SPILL, FREDERICK A. HARRIS, HENRY RUCK.

The news of the jury's finding started afresh the busy tongue of gossip, and on every street corner knots of men could be seen discussing over again the minutest details of evidence bearing on the tragedy. It is now eighteen days since the murder came to light, and the temper of the people, which is naturally aloof from turbulence, has had time to settle back from the excitement and when the coroner's jury met, a marked revival of the feeling, and the result of the inquiry may be said to be only the beginning of the end, and what the end will be none can foresee. Most of the jurors privately believe that Carpenter is guilty, but the evidence was not strong enough to hold him. Many farmers were in from the country, and are very generally loud in their denunciations of Carpenter and the finding of the jury.

The preliminary hearing will be begun before Judge Rudolph at 9 o'clock next Saturday, the 13th. Beach & Hodnot and Ed. Ed. Lynch will conduct Carpenter's defense. The case will not doubt last two or three days, and will be hotly contested. The prosecution were busily sending out subpoenas for their numerous witnesses.

The sheriff has sent to Richmond, Ind., for the ring which is said to have "Zura Burns" written on it, and other property disposed of to a jeweler of Cambridge City by a couple of strangers, but the officials don't put much importance to them. Zura Burns, a brother of the murdered girl, will arrive from Colorado, but it is not known that he has more than his presence to lend to the case. Mrs. Fannie Dukes, Zura's sister, will remain till after the preliminary trial and will be put upon the witness stand to tell what she knows, though but little.

ROW AT LONDON DERRY.

Orangemen Attack a Nationalist Procession—Few People Hurt.

LONDON DERRY, Nov. 2.—A large number of Orangemen took possession of and occupied the city hall to prevent the lord mayor of Dublin, for whom the hall had been engaged, from delivering a lecture upon the franchise. The corporation rescinded a resolution to rent the hall for the lecture by the lord mayor of Dublin. A number of Nationalists from Donegal assembled at the railway station to meet the lord mayor. Policemen lined the streets through which the lord mayor passed, and a troop of lancers arrived to assist in preserving the peace. The seizure of the city hall creates intense excitement. Some Orangemen are themselves upon the roof of the building and waved their regalia. Several of them, with sponge-rods of cannon, went inside the building and declared themselves determined to hold the city hall.

After the announcement of the decision of the city council recommending the motion to grant them the use of the city hall for the purpose of holding a meeting, the Nationalists proceeded in a body to the city hall to await the arrival of Mr. Dawson, the lord mayor of Dublin. The train bearing his lordship had scarcely halted at the depot when he appeared and was quickly seized and hurried to a carriage by a reception committee. A procession was then formed and a line of march taken through the principal streets to the hotel where a banquet had been prepared. Wherever possible along the line of the route of the procession Orangemen had taken position in the windows and upon the roofs of the buildings. For a short time as the Nationalists were passing along the roadway, Orangemen abused themselves with hooting, jeering and showering imprecations upon the Lord Mayor. Suddenly a pistol shot was heard. This was apparently the signal for an attack, as several were fired in rapid succession from the roofs and hurled upon the heads of the nationalists. Having given vent to their excess of bad feeling, the Orangemen made no further demonstrations, and the violence subsided after a few desultory shots. Considering the extent of the firing and the number of missiles thrown the casualties were few. One Roman Catholic, a boy, was shot and may die. The object of his shot, and perhaps ten or twelve others were more or less seriously hurt. The hotel was reached without further interruption and the nationalists dispersed.

Mr. Dawson issued a request to his friends and supporters to abstain from acts of violence in retaliation for the outrage, and in the evening delivered a lecture at the National institute of the city hall.

His audience was large and enthusiastic. "No attempt was made to interfere with the progress of the lecture. The town is now perfectly quiet, and no further outbreak is apprehended."

Several Orangemen were arrested for firing revolvers at the nationalists' procession and search is being made for others who are known to have been concerned in the attack.

International Labor Union.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The Trade Unionists' congress has been concluded. In the resolutions that were adopted as the final utterance of the body, it was urged upon local organizations to agitate through their representatives in the French, Italian and Spanish assemblies for the establishment and authorization of an international labor union.

It also unanimously adopted a resolution that workmen should accept the conditions of the local trade organizations, and not disavow all other's labor.

One Thousand Out of Work.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 2.—The breaking of the bed plate of the Bessemer mill of the Pennsylvania steel works threw out of work for a week 1,000 men.

The fact that good health, strong muscles and sound nerves are attainable, should encourage every invalid to an earnest endeavor in the right direction. Remember all disease owes its origin more or less to a lack of iron in the blood. Iron in the blood means health, strength and vigor. Analyze the blood of an invalid and little or no iron will be found. Healthy men's blood is full of iron. The best method of supplying this lack of iron is by using Dr. Williams' Iron Bitters, a sure cure for dyspepsia, general debility, weakness and all wasting diseases.

—Mr. John Watson is confined to his bed, owing to severe bruises upon his head, side and arms, caused by being thrown from his buggy on West Milwaukee street last evening. His horse became frightened at a threshing machine in the road, and started to one side, throwing Mr. Watson violently to the ground. It is hoped that his bruises are not of a serious nature.

—Mr. J. L. Croft, the teller in the First National Bank, won the prize at the democratic caucus in the first ward last evening, and will be their candidate for the vacant seat in the board of aldermen.

—Mr. Croft is a very popular young man, and is as good a selection as the democrats could have made. He is a man of whom nothing can be said against his personal character; but under the circumstances, we hardly think he can claim the city hall stairs carrying the "flagman at the railway crossing issue." That is too this, for the prevailing atmosphere. The republican candidate, who will be nominated this evening may be one that will make as good a "flag carrier" as his democratic opponent.

SORROWFUL NEWS.

Fatal Accident to Mr. Charles L. Dudley.—Particulars as to How it Occurred.

This morning Judge Patten received two telegrams from Chicago, the first one from his daughter Dolly, dated at ten o'clock last night saying that her husband had been injured by the cars, but that the injuries were thought not to be fatal. The second dispatch was signed by Mr. W. P. Cragin, stating that Mr. Dudley was dying. Mrs. Patten left on the 9:40 train for Chicago, and Judge Patten left on the 1:15 train this afternoon. The particulars regarding the accident are given by the Inter Ocean as follows:

Mr. Charles L. Dudley, of No. 3029 Groveland Park, was horribly mutilated by the cars yesterday afternoon. Mr. Dudley is the superintendent of the Cragin tin and sheet iron works at Cragin, Ill., and wished to come into the city on the 4 o'clock train. He was a trifle late at the depot, and attempted to board the train after it had started. He slipped, and falling over the wheels, his right leg below the knee and right foot were crushed, and he also received several severe bruises. The train was stopped and brought the injured man to the Union depot, whence he was removed to his home by the police patrol. The physicians will be compelled to amputate the right leg at the knee, but there are hopes that the gentleman will recover from the effects of the accident.

The Times' account does not differ from the above, and is herewith given:

Charles L. Dudley, the superintendent of Cragin Brothers' iron works, at Cragin, Illinois, was the victim last evening of an accident which will cripple him for life. Mr. Dudley is a married man, and lives at No. 3029 Groveland Park avenue. He goes daily to work by the Cragin railroad, and is being situated a few miles out of the city on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road. Last evening he attempted to board an inbound train at Cragin to return home, but slipped and fell beneath the wheels. When picked up his right leg was found to have been crushed in a terrible manner from the knee down, and the left foot was also slightly crushed. He was taken on board the train, and brought to the city. Surgeons attended to him at his home and found it necessary to amputate the right leg above the knee.

The injuries were more severe than the above accounts would indicate, as the following private telegram was received at half past one o'clock this afternoon:

Chicago, Nov. 2.
N. Smith, Editor Gazette:—Dudley died at his home in Chicago at five o'clock this morning. The funeral services will be at nine o'clock a. m. Saturday. Memorial services at Cragin, Sunday. A special car with the remains and funeral will go to Madison Saturday morning, and the funeral will take place in that city on Sunday.

W. P. CRAGIN.

Mr. Dudley had a large circle of warm friends in Janesville, and that he should be stricken down in young manhood, and the life, which gave so much promise of success, should be forever blotted out, creates a feeling of profound sorrow in the city. Mrs. Dudley, who has so early been called to widowhood, has the deepest sympathy of this community.

First Ward Democrats.
The first ward democrats were very tardy last evening, in responding to the call of the ward committee for a caucus at the engine house for the purpose of nominating a candidate for alderman. The hour named for the caucus was 7:30 o'clock, but it was considerably past eight o'clock when the chairman of the committee, Mr. A. M. Valentine, put in an appearance, and then but very few members of the democratic party from the ward were present,—in fact they could be numbered on the fingers of the hands. Although small in numbers, the caucus was very harmonious; no one present desired the nomination; and finally a motion prevailed unanimously nominating Mr. J. L. Croft as the candidate. Mr. Croft was absent, and no one present could state authoritatively that Mr. Croft would accept the candidacy, but the majority concluded that he could be prevailed upon to sacrifice a little of his business duties for the sake of serving the first ward constituency.

Mr. A. O. Wilson, of the fifth ward, who takes great delight in shaping democratic issues, in order that his party may the better gain a momentary victory was present, and suggested that the caucus adopt as the only issue for Monday's election, "that a flagman be placed at the railroad crossings on Jackson and Academy streets."

This suggestion was silently received by the first warders, when one member quietly inquired, "as if in opposition to the suggested issue, 'if any one know how Tom Croft felt in regard to Low's nomination?' at the same time insinuating that Tom might possibly throw his influence against Low if such an issue was raised, and that he did not know how the republicans stood. The flag issue was dropped, and the caucus commenced talking on the possible republican candidates—when the names of James Shearer, S. Trulson, and J. W. Nash were mentioned in connection with the office. But they all concluded to let the republicans settle upon their own candidates, and adjourned.

That Flag Issue.

At a meeting of the common council held August 20th last, a document was presented, signed by a large number of citizens of the first ward, complaining of certain nuisances caused by the switch yards of the St. Paul railroad company at the crossing of Jackson, High and Academy streets, and concluding with the following petition:

"Therefore your petitioners ask your honorable body, either,

1st, To induce said companies to remove said switch yards south from said streets, so as to free the same.

2d, While said companies are preparing for said removal that the council require flagmen to be stationed at each of said street crossings, or

3d, In case said companies refuse any relief that the council exercise its power and compel them to remove said yard from its present location south to some point less inconvenient and dangerous to the public."

This petition was referred to the committee on railroads, consisting of Ald. Potter, Kenyon, McLean, Lennartz and Pitfield, with instructions from the council to investigate the matter and cause the nuisance to be removed.

This committee immediately caused a copy of the petition to be forwarded to the proper officers of the railroad company, and asking that they take action on the same.

On October 20th, Ald. Potter, chairman of the railroad committee, made the following written report to the common council, the report being signed by all the members of the committee. The italics are our own. The report reads:

To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of widening Franklin street where the railroad crosses, report that said work is completed, and that the former obstruction at that point is being removed. Also, that in compliance with the request of petitioners of first ward the C. & M. and St. Paul railroad company have removed their switch yard, west of Academy street and cleared Jackson, High and Academy streets of the nuisance complained of.

The facts are, as certified to by the committee, that the first ward petitioners have obtained just what they asked for in their petition.

At the democratic caucus in the first ward last night, it was insinuated that Ald. Potter had put the above petition in his pocket, and had ignored the wishes of his constituents, and with this one, it was suggested that the caucus raise the issue on Monday at the special election in that ward, of placing a flagman at the crossing of the streets named, and from this statement of the case, the following un-called for insult was thrown at the alderman composing the railroad committee of the council, by the break-o-day shout:

"The residents of the first ward are beginning to become impatient in regard to the whereabouts of that notoriously signed petition to the common council, requesting the railway companies to put flagmen at the various crossings in that ward."

And "It is stated on reliable authority that J. L. Croft, democratic nominee for alderman in the first ward, is in favor of placing flagmen at the railroad crossings. That should be sufficient to insure his election."

"The residents of the first ward" will laugh after reading the above quotations, when they remember that the same sheet published on October 20th, eleven days ago, the report of the railroad committee certifying that the petition of the citizens of the first ward had been granted.

The Janesville Guards.
The annual meeting of the Janesville Guards was held in the armory last evening for the purpose of electing officers for the civil organization, and general business. The election of officers resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen:

President—John G. Rexford.
Vice President—Charles Hobel.
Secretary—John Monziez.
Financial Secretary—Will Wheeler.
Treasurer—J. J. Lawrence.

The Guards decided to hold their annual party during the close of the present month and appointed a committee consisting of F. N. Webster, Charles Putnam, Charles E. Curtis, Romaine Holdredge, and Charles Hemming, who will fix upon a date, and make all the arrangements for a first class party.

The prize drill which was announced to take place last evening, for the Doe medal, did not take place, but was postponed until Thursday evening of next week.

An appropriation was made for a target for rifle practice, and for a pair of boxing gloves.

It was also decided to rent the armory to the Cadets, to be used by them as headquarters.

Do not neglect a common cold, it will result in disease and perhaps death. Down's Expectorant will cure it at once. Sold by Sterns & Baker.

The New Iron Bridge.
Work has been commenced on the building of the new iron railroad bridge across Rock river for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company. The structure will be what is known as a half truss through bridge, made entirely of iron and will have four spans, each 84 feet in length, and will be 16 feet wide. Alden & Lassing, iron bridge makers, of Rochester, N. Y., have the contract, and the work will require about one month's time. There are sixteen men in the bridge gang, and the work is superintended by Mr. E. Terry, of Chicago. The construction of the bridge will not interfere in the least with the running of the trains.—Detroit Free Press.

After Statistics.

The following from the Evening Wisconsin will be of interest to the readers of the Gazette, as like circulars have been received by our manufacturers: "Manufacturers and other employers of labor in Milwaukee received by this morning's mail a circular from Frank A. Flower, commissioner of the recently created state bureau of labor statistics, requesting them to fill, under oath, and return to him not later than December next, an accompanying blank form asking a series of thirty questions concerning their business and the work-people whom they employ. The questions are intended to elicit in each case the nature of the business followed, the capital invested, number, age, sex, capacity and social condition of persons employed, wages paid, number of employees belonging to labor organizations, experience in regard to strikes, privileges granted to employees and provisions for their safety in case of fire. The statistics asked for with particular reference to the year ended October 1st. The law under which the bureau of statistics was created is cited to show that a forfeit of $10 must be paid by employers failing to make the desired returns for every day which the same shall be delayed."

COLLAPSE OF THE BUILDING.
New York, Nov. 2.—The one-story building situated on Thirty-ninth street and First avenue which was in the course of demolition suddenly collapsed, causing the death of two, John Laws of 323 East Thirty-eighth street and Eliza J. Burns, a child, 314 East Thirty-ninth street. The building was recently purchased by George Elret, the brewer with the intention of building a large cigar factory. Mr. Elret had sent five carpenters to pull down the structure, which they had scarcely commenced to do when they were surrounded by a large number of men, women and children, eager to collect the debris, for kindling. The carpenters endeavored to drive away the crowd, and one of the wood gatherers, a laborer named John Laws, 37 years of age, was seen chopping at one of the joists which were the main support of the building when suddenly there was a cracking of timber, followed by a crash, and the roof fell, burying three of the unfortunate sufferers in the ruins. The firemen were speedily summoned and went at once to work to cut and clear the debris. Two dead bodies were taken out and identified as above. One young man, named Louis Lacombe, of 37 East Thirty-eighth street, was found pinned to the ground by heavy timbers, and after being extricated was found to be seriously injured. Ulrich, a carpenter, who was eating his dinner near the building, was also seriously injured by being struck on the head by falling timbers. The bodies were removed to the morgue and Coroner Kennedy will investigate the case.
